My Personal Takeaways...

There is really no limit to what you can accomplish when you're surrounded by supportive and like-minded people!

Don't be afraid to use your voice! Speak up for issues you are passionate about and spread positivity! You have more things in common with other people than you may think! Take the time to listen and learn!

Thank you!

"When I started university, I struggled to find my place and purpose...RYLA provided a space where I felt accepted, understood, and heard...the support I felt in this environment allowed me to find my voice, rediscover passions and parts of myself that were missing, and to dream limitlessly about how I want my future to look... I left feeling empowered."
